

Institute for Regional and International Studies
UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-MADISON

To all potential Fulbright U.S. Student Program 2022-23 applicants
(applying thru UW-Madison)

All applicants must use the online application system, which is available through the Fulbright website: <https://us.fulbrightonline.org/>. Click on the “Applicants” tab at the top of the page for instructions, additional guidance, and to initiate an application.

Enrolled UW-Madison students are expected to apply for a Fulbright U.S. Student Program award through the UW-Madison by selecting UW-Madison as their institution in the online application.

Alumni who are not in a graduate program at another institution are invited and strongly encouraged to take advantage of the resources we offer and apply through the UW-Madison by designating the UW-Madison as your institution in the application. We are here to support all current students & alumni throughout the entire application process!

The Institute of International Education (which manages the Fulbright U.S. Student Program) uses an online application system. All documents that make up the application – including letters of affiliation and recommendation, language evaluations, and transcripts – MUST be submitted online and by the campus deadline: 11:59am CT, Thursday, September 16, 2021.

Read the Campus Instructions for more information about submitting late letters, access to the application after the campus deadline, revising proposals, providing supplemental documentation, etc. Remember: the campus-side of the review process is about helping applicants submit the strongest, most competitive applications possible; we do not limit or eliminate applications at any point on the campus side!

The only material you will submit directly to the IRIS Awards Office (via email to awards@iris.wisc.edu) are Attachments A & B. The deadline to submit these is 10:00am CDT, Monday, September 13, 2021

If you do not submit Attachments A & B by 10:00am CDT, Monday, September 13, 2021 and an application by the campus deadline, it is possible that no campus review will take place. We can accept applications after the campus deadline in some instances but you should contact the IRIS Awards Office to discuss.

Read all instructions on the Fulbright U.S. Student program website, <https://us.fulbrightonline.org/> and the campus instructions: <https://iris.wisc.edu/funding/students/fulbright-us-student-program/>. You are responsible for submitting a complete and correct application. Contact Mark Lilleleht, UW-Madison’s Fulbright Program Advisor, with any questions: awards@iris.wisc.edu & 608.265.6070.

The October 12, 2021 5:00pm EDT deadline is the final (national) submission deadline. If you are applying for a Fulbright U.S. Student Program award through the UW-Madison, the first deadline for submission of your application is the campus deadline.
